

This is regarding the above case to allow banks that I bank with to make telemarketing calls to my house. I do not want, these companies, to be able to make telemarketing calls to me. The only reason they should call is if there is a problem with my account. If I want a new service I will seek them out. There is often someone asleep at my house during the day and this disturbs their night-time sleep. So please rule against this, it is an invasion of my privacy!
